Rome—An attempt was made to assassinate Premier Mussolini Wednesday morning. A woman fired a revolver point blank at him but he escaped with a slight wound.

Mussolini was shot through the nose. The shooting occurred about 11 a. m. while he was leaving the session of the Congress of International Surgery in the Place De Capote to enter his automobile.

CROWD CHEERS PREMIER
A great crowd was around the entrance cheering the premier when the woman pressed to the front and pointing a revolver directly at him, pulled the trigger.

The woman was rescued from the crowd with great difficulty and was rushed to the jail where women prisoners are confined.

Meanwhile Mussolini, submitting to medical attention, maintained great composure. He ordered that immediate dispositions be taken to preserve order and that no retribution be taken.

WOMAN IS BRITISH SUBJECT

The woman who fired the shot gave her name to the police as Violet Albina Gibson nee Dalkey. She is 50 years old and a British subject. News of the attempt created a sensation not only in Rome but in other cities throughout the country where it was made known.

The semi-official Stefani agency says the immediate reaction was the organization of manifestations of loyalty to the fascist chief.

After her arrest, the woman who made the attempt replied to questions in an unintelligible manner, speaking in English.

It was learned that on Feb. 27, 1925, while she was living in a family hotel in Rome, Miss Gibson tried to commit suicide by shooting herself in the breast with a revolver. At that time at her request she had attempted to kill herself "for the glory of God". She was then taken to a hospital where she was kept under observation for some time.

COVETOUS JOURNEY

Rome—(AP)—Despite the attempt on his life Wednesday morning, Premier Mussolini went to the Palazzo Littorio to preside at the ceremony of the presentation of the provincial secretaries to the new directorate of the Fascist party.

LONDON STARTLED

London—(AP)—News that Premier Mussolini of Italy had been shot and wounded by a woman giving the name of Violet Albina Gibson caused a sensation in London. The third daughter of the late Lord Ashbourne is the honorable Violet Albina Gibson, aged 50.

The press association says: "In connection with Wednesday's attack on Mussolini, the press association is informed by a member of the family of the late Lord Ashbourne in London that Honorable Violet Albina Gibson is at present in Rome. She is a lady of somewhat eccentric temperament."

DOMINIC RUBATT WAS CHOSEN HURLEY MAYOR

Worcester—(AP)—Dominic Rubatt, considered a dark horse in the race until Tuesday won the office of mayor here in a field of five when he rolled up 440 votes to defeat C. F. Castagna and Mayor W. T. Lennon, who gave him the closest race.

Both Rubatt and Castagna had the support of Italian factions and early Tuesday betting odds of five to one were given that either Castagna or Rubatt would win.

FLOOD IS FEARED
IN MIDDLE WESTSevere Rains and Melting Snow Raises Levels of Rivers, Lakes

Chicago—(AP)—Flood conditions Wednesday faced several mid-western localities as a result of severe rains augmented by melting snow from the heavy fall of late March.

The industrial district of Fort Wayne, Ind., was threatened by rising waters of the Maumee river, swollen by rain which fell for hours.

Flood stage—15 feet—was reached late Tuesday with a 17 foot stage in prospect Wednesday, sufficient to flood many blocks in the eastern part of the city.

The water in Lake Decatur at Decatur, Ill., was 18 inches above normal level Wednesday following a severe storm Tuesday night. Water, gathering in low streets, blocked traffic for several hours although no property damage was reported.

At Jacksonville, Ill., Lake Maumela reached a new height, the water from the spillway running over the Springfield-Jacksonville highway to a depth of three feet, halting traffic. Stranded motorists were rescued by drawn vehicles.

The power plant of the Mississippi Valley Public Service corporation at Hatfield, Wis., was partly flooded Tuesday when the flood leading into the plant broke one of the huge turbines being washed from its foundation. Considerable small machinery and other equipment were ruined.

Continuing rain was predicted for Wednesday in most of the Great Lakes region and the middle Mississippi and lower Ohio valleys with precipitation also indicated for the southern half of the same area on Thursday.

Paris Boasts Of Two Aspirants To Thrones

Paris—(AP)—Paris awoke Wednesday to find that it had two pretenders to thrones. One of them is the Duke of Guise, aspirant for the throne his ancestors held in France beginning in 1776. The other is grand Duke Nicholas Nicolaievitch who has been requested by a congress of Russian monarchists to fight for the throne of the Czars in Russia.

Under the law voted in 1886 the Duke of Guise, who has announced that he will replace the late Duke of Orleans as head of the French Royalists and as pretender to the French throne, is doomed to exile. Grand Duke Nicholas on the other hand will be able to live in intrigue at his chateau near Paris, while the head of "the oldest French family" is denied all the rights of his native soil.

This anomalous situation is certain to have a repercussion in the Chamber of Deputies and the senate when they reconvene, for while French Royalists now are few in parliament the Socialists and Communists are bound to stir up trouble and demand that the government no longer harbor Nicholas—provided he accepts the leadership of the Russian restoration movement. Besides, the Soviet embassy in Paris is almost certain to have a word to say.

All partisan feeling aside, general regret is expressed that an assumption of Russian leadership by the Duke of Guise through accident of birth, is forced to exile himself and his young son.

Debarred by laws from serving with the French army during the world war, the Duke did all possible to aid France by attempting to join allied armies only to be refused for diplomatic reasons. He finally operated at the front to give comfort to the Polish.

The Duke has arrived in Naples. It is understood he will divide his time between Palermo and his estate near Brusaia, and also visit from time to time his properties in Spanish Morocco.

BRIBERY TALE

RUM PROBES60,000,000 Gallons of Alcohol Diverted Yearly,
Buckner Says

Washington, D. C.—(AP)—An intimate picture of the trial of lawlessness and corruption, uncovered in prohibition enforcement in New York, was given to a senate committee Wednesday by Emory R. Buckner, federal district attorney for the metropolis.

An "atmosphere of collusion" in the federal building was described by the witness. He told of finding a seething mass of "fixers," bootleggers, waiters and others in the building when he took office 15 months ago.

Jurors were bribed even in the federal building itself, Buckner said, but these conditions now are improved, and the courts are catching up with their docket.

Alcohol diversion was described by the witness as the major difficulty in enforcement. Diversion now amounts to 60,000,000 gallons a year, he said, over the entire country.

"You mean sixty million in one year?" asked chairman Means.

"Yes, one year," Buckner said. There appeared to be no falling off in the interest in the prohibition hearings, the committee room being crowded by an overflow into the halls.

To speed up the proceedings the committee decided to hold a session Wednesday night. That will take up the unused three hours the wets now have accumulated to their credit because of the failure to hold afternoon sessions as originally planned. They are to have the equivalent of six four hour hearings this week and next week a like amount of time will be set aside for the railroads.

District Attorney Buckner proceeded most of the time in his own way with Senator Reed, Democrat, Missouri, the one wet on the committee, putting in an occasional question.

MUCH ALCOHOL DIVERTED
Committee members dwelt for some time on the witness' declaration that 60,000,000 gallons of alcohol was diverted annually.

Buckner thought that percentage of bootleg alcohol destroyed was very small.

The district attorney said his chemists found traces of poison in 98 per cent of the bootleg liquor seized.

"The condition of it depends on the conscience and technique of the bootlegger," he added.

Seizures of ships around New York is decreasing, the witness said, but "dry" United States is exporting bootleg industrial alcohol into Canada to help the Canadian bootleggers to beat the Canadian government out of taxes."

A word of praise for General Andrews, the prohibition chief, was given by Buckner just before the committee recessed until Wednesday night.

"General Andrews is the best thing prohibition ever had," he said.

Social Experts To Probe
Results Of ProhibitionBY DAVID LAWRENCE
Copyright, 1926, Post Pub. Co.
Washington—To determine whether prohibition is a success or failure with respect to social conditions in the United States a private inquiry soon will be instituted by the National Research Council of Social Sciences under the leadership of Dr. Charles E. Merriam of Chicago.

Detailed announcement of the scope of the investigation has not yet been made but the general purpose of it is to secure information from all source which will answer the question of prohibition's favorable or adverse effect on social conditions in America in the last few years.

Ample funds for the inquiry have been contributed by disinterested philanthropists who have become convinced that as long as prohibition is regarded as a political football, it the progress will be made toward an understanding of it.

Neither the wet nor the dry side of the controversy is in any way responsible for the initiation of the movement to get the facts. College professors, themselves expert in sociology, have banded together to furnish to the nation by scientific methods data on perhaps the leading social question of the day in America. With the political aspects they will give themselves no concern but will undertake to study what classes in the community have been improved and what classes have been injured by the prohibition laws. Their recommendations no doubt will carry considerable weight with independent-minded people and it can be authoritatively stated that the investigators will approach their tasks with no preconceived idea of what conclusions will be found.

Prohibition enforcement has been treated as a legal problem by the government and by the various agencies seeking to support the law. It has been considered as a social problem only incidentally. Facts and figures on the number of arrests have been compiled and attacked according as they seem to prove the case for one side or the other. What the investigators now want to learn is what effect prohibition has had on the general health of communities, in any what relationship the crime wave has to prohibition, and whether the alleged disturbance of moral codes among the youth of the country is in any way abnormal and whether it is the cause or effect of conditions noted under the era of prohibition.

It is estimated that the inquiry will take at least two years or more. The theory in which it is being undertaken is that the controversy over prohibition is not going to be settled in a few months but that public opinion will constantly seek to be enlightened on the operations of the prohibition law and that it wants reliable information and not prejudiced argument.

The colleges themselves have become the victims of some of the changes introduced by the combination of the automobile and the sale of "bootleg" liquor. College authorities everywhere are growing more and more concerned as to the effect of prohibition on the amount of serious attention given to studies nowadays as compared with ten years ago. The fact-finding in inquiry will have the cooperation of the leading colleges of the country as well as local and state agencies engaged in prohibition investigation and enforcement.

"I'M IN RACE FOR SENATE,"
LENROOT SAYSSuperior Man Has Coolidge

Senatorial Fight

Washington, D. C.—(AP)—Senator Lenroot, Republican, Wisconsin who led the administration fight in the senate for American adherence to the World Court, announced Tuesday night that he would be a candidate for renomination in the senatorial primaries on Sept. 7.

This announcement sets at rest reports which first became current during the senate court fight that Senator Lenroot would retire at the end of his term next March 4 and become associated with a New York law firm.

TO FIGHT LA FOLLETTE
In his battle for renomination, the senator will be opposed by a candidate selected by the progressive wing of the Republican party in Wisconsin of which Senator La Follette is the recognized leader. This will be renewed the contest of last year, when Senator Lenroot led the opposition to the election of Mr. La Follette to fill out the unexpired term of his father.

TO GET NATIONAL SUPPORT
In the impending contest, Senator Lenroot will have behind him all of the force of the national Republican organization which has been making a determined drive for a number of years to take control of the state away from the Progressives.

Senator Lenroot's announcement was in the form of a written statement.

"I have not up to this time authorized any statement as to my future plans," he said. "I feel that I owe it to the people of the state of Wisconsin, however, to say at this time that I will be a candidate for reelection. I shall reserve any extended statement until I begin my campaign."

HAS HEALTH FOR FIGHT
"I have never been in better health and as soon as congress adjourns will carry on an active campaign in every part of the state."

After ten years service in the house, Senator Lenroot was elected to the senate in 1918 to fill the unexpired term of the late Senator Husting. He was reelected in 1920.

Albert C. Rule, present city assessor, was elected mayor of Appleton in Tuesday's election by a plurality of 151 votes over John Goodland, incumbent, in one of the closest contests in the history of the city. The election was not determined until close to 11 o'clock when the first precinct of the Sixth ward returned a majority of 68 votes for Rule, breaking a tie which existed when ten precincts had reported. The first ten precincts reporting gave each of the candidates 2,149 votes. Rule's majority in the Sixth ward precinct assured his election for it was certain he would carry the second precinct of the Fourth ward, missing at that time. The Fourth ward precinct increased Rule's lead by 83 votes, giving him a majority of 151.

PEOTTER WINS EASILY
George Peotter, present building inspector, was elected assessor over Charles Schrimpf by 1,074 votes. Peotter polled 3,061 votes while Schrimpf received 1,987. Peotter carried every precinct in the city except the two in the Fourth ward. Schrimpf's home ward, Peotter piled up huge leads in the First, Second, Third and Sixth wards and had a substantial majority in the Fifth. Schrimpf carried the Fourth ward by 122 votes.

In the mayoralty race the candidates split even in wards. Rule carrying the First, Fourth and Sixth, and Goodland taking the Second, Third, and Fifth. Rule's majority in the Sixth ward was only 9 votes and Goodland's lead in the Third was 30.

Goodland carried the first precinct of the Fourth ward by 25 votes but he lost the second precinct by 83 votes. Each candidate carried a precinct of the Second ward, Third ward, Fourth ward and Sixth ward. Rule took both precincts of the First ward, piling up a lead of

Remarkable Case of Adam Miller

Aged 41 Years, Under Chiropractic Adjustments

J. A. Panneck
Palmer Chiropractor
Who Adjusted Adam Miller

In my newspaper Ads I am giving information pertaining to the science of Chiropractic which contains facts that you should know.

Give them your attention. I feel that such service is essential because there are some people, as yet, who do not know the merits of the science which I practice—are not aware that Chiropractic has proven by results in acute and chronic diseases to be the greatest forward step made by man in his 5000 years of effort to master disease.

It is only a few years since the discovery of the fact that the nervous system maintains and controls all actions of the balance of our anatomy. To have normal health, normal action must be maintained—Chiropractic developed upon these facts. Thus it is not surprising to still find a few people who do not understand or know its merits—even to find some, while not knowing about the science, ridicule it. That is human nature. All great facts which, in their nature, revolutionized and proved superior to an old method, has to meet the ridicule of leaders of the old idea for a time. Dr. Harvey who discovered and gave to the world the facts about blood circulation, was denounced as a fake by his fellow practitioners. Thousands of like instances might be taken from the pages of the world's history. Progress has been compelled to overcome prejudice. The fact that the merits which I state my science possesses has been proven by me thru health restoration in acute and chronic diseases, among which are a good percentage heretofore classed as incurable is sufficient proof for an honest investigator.

If you desire to learn facts about the application of Chiropractic, you are invited to call for consultation for which I make no charge.

Remember that the scope of my health science covers diseases from head to foot.

ADAM MILLER'S OWN STATEMENT

I just want to tell what J. A. Panneck Palmer Chiropractor has done for me. In October, 1925 I was taken sick; I had different doctors and tried everything in the way of medicine with no improvement. Some of the doctors which I consulted called it rheumatism while others did not know.

This continued for a period of about five months. By this time I was unable to continue my work and quite discouraged.

Hearing of J. A. Panneck, Palmer Chiropractor I called to see if he could help me. After he analyzed my spine he said he had located the cause of my trouble, and after taking the first adjustment on Feb. 26th, 1926, I began to feel better. I continued taking adjustments for a month, have gained in weight and feel like a new man, working every day.

If I or my family ever get sick Chiropractic first not last for me.

Signed,
Adam Miller,
920 W. Prospect Ave.
Personally appeared before me Adam Miller of Outagamie County who upon oath affirms that the above statement is true. Sworn to before me this 7th day of April 1926.

My commission expires April 22, 1928.

Women Tell

Others how this new hygienic pad discards easily as tissue—no laundry

BECAUSE one woman so advises others, and because doctors so urge, most women are deserting the old-time "sanitary pad" for a new and better way.

Eight in 10 better-class women now use "KOTEX."

Discards as easily as a piece of tissue. No laundry. No embarrassment.

Five times as absorbent as ordinary cotton pads.

Deodorizes, thus ending ALL danger of offending.

Obtainable at all drug and department stores simply by saying "KOTEX." You ask for it without hesitancy.

Package of 12 costs only a few cents. Proves old ways a needless risk. In fairness to yourself, try it.

BADGER DOCTORS MEET HERE TO PAY TRIBUTE TO DEAD

Radiological Experts Adopt Resolution to Honor Memory of Dr. Sandborn

A resolution of condolence to the family of the late Dr. Manly J. Sandborn, president of the Radiological Society of North America, was adopted at a joint meeting of the Radiological section of the Wisconsin State Medical Society and the Outagamie County Medical Society Tuesday at the Conway Hotel. The gathering which was attended by about 100 Wisconsin radiologists and Outagamie County doctors was primarily for the purpose of honoring the memory of Dr. Sandborn, who was one of the foremost X-ray authorities of the country.

The principal talk was given by Dr. E. C. Cushman, Chicago, who succeeded Dr. Sandborn as president of the Radiological Society of North America. He spoke on "The Future of Radiology." At the meeting Tuesday afternoon at St. Elizabeth Hospital Dr. Joseph Smith, Wausau, president of the Wisconsin State Medical Society spoke on the X-ray in the Diagnosis and Management of Fractures.

Other speakers at the afternoon session were Dr. E. J. Carey, professor of anatomy at Marquette University, Milwaukee, who talked on "Anatomy of the Thorax," and Dr. C. G. Sutherland of the Mayo Clinic at Rochester, Minn., who spoke on "X-ray Diagnosis of Bone and Joint Diseases." A banquet was given at 6:30 by the Outagamie County Medical Society.

Talks were given Tuesday evening by Dr. Cushman, Dr. W. S. Middleton, associate professor of medicine at the University of Wisconsin, on "Heart Diseases," and Dr. J. C. Sargent of Milwaukee, "Tuberculous Diseases." An announcement was made of the meeting of the Radiological Society of North America at Milwaukee next December. About 3,000 radiologists are expected to attend.

The Milwaukee doctors came to Appleton in a bus they had chartered for the occasion and returned the same evening.

The resolution of condolence on the death of Dr. Sandborn follows:

Whereas, Almighty God in His infinite wisdom has called from our midst all that is mortal of Manly Jay Sandborn, and

Whereas, Manly Jay Sandborn, who, by his untiring service to the civic, church, and fraternal affairs of his home town, by his participation in the activities of the Outagamie County and State Medical societies, by his successful efforts in the development of radiology as an integral part of medicine, and especially through his gift of organization and leadership, which has placed our local and national radiological societies on a high plane of scientific usefulness, has won great honor for himself, his town, his state, his profession, and his specialty, and who, in his passing, has left to us the inspiration and the sincerity of his interest, be it therefore

Resolved, That the Radiological section of the State Medical Society of Wisconsin, in regular meeting assembled, extend to the bereaved family of our departed coworker our deepest sympathy and condolence in their great loss, and be it further presented by the Hi-Y club in the next month will be held after the regular meeting of the club Wednesday evening at the Y. M. C. A. Seven boys were chosen as end men in the preliminary tryouts and one must be eliminated Wednesday evening. Tryouts for the chorus parts of the show also will be held Wednesday evening and tryouts for soloists will be held at 8:30 Thursday evening. The Wednesday evening meeting will be preceded by a supper.

Resolved, That a page of our minutes be dedicated to his memory, a copy of these resolutions be sent to

The club chose the Alabama Minstrel as its production and it will be given either late in April or the early part of May at Fischer's Appleton theatre. John Catlin is interlocutor and others taking part are Edward Blessman, Glen Opperman, Robert Mitchell, Daniel Steinberg, Arthur Smith, Frank Harriman and Robert Matz.

Redeemed by Love

In a sordid dive of Chicago's underworld sat a young girl—alone. Her blue eyes were tired, her face pale and drawn. At a small table nearby sat the Reverend James McDonald and his bride who had come to see the city's wickedness at first hand.

Presently the girl went out. The young minister and his wife followed.

As she entered the street, a man lurched out of the shadows and grabbed her arm, thrust his evil face close to hers and snarled a vicious command.

But at that moment, a tall form loomed at his shoulder. The next instant, his head jerked back under the stinging impact of a blow driven straight to the jaw—and he went sprawling in the gutter.

Thus begins the pitiful story of "Peg"—who was driven by circumstances to do a dreadful thing, and who dedicated her life to undoing it.

No soldier in the trenches ever acted a more heroic part than little Peggy. Her story will bring inspiration and courage to many a heavy heart.

Other Gripping Stories in the May Issue Are:

"Her Narrow Escape"—When he asked to accompany her to the movies, she didn't know that taking up with a casual stranger might have its dangers. Nor could she foresee where a taxi ride might lead. But the gay adventure had a terrible sequel. A story every girl should read.

"Other Women's Husbands"—Can a girl steal another woman's husband and be happy? Lois tried it. In this startling story she tells frankly how she went about it to achieve her ends—and its amazing outcome.

ITALIAN DEBT SETTLEMENT Opinion in congress and of the press on the Italian debt settlement is largely, if not entirely, influenced by a general attitude toward the administration's foreign policies. Those who objected to the world court and to other acts of the administration designed to cooperate with Europe for its reconstruction and for the promotion of peace are hostile to the settlement. Those who have supported the administration in its policies approve the settlement.

WISCONSIN MILK IN CHICAGO
Forty per cent of the milk consumed in Chicago, it is stated, amounting to 1-200,000 quarts daily, including the 100,000 quart increase after the Bundesen regulation became effective last week,
comes from Wisconsin's tested herds.

MORE WASTED TIME
The wets and dries are staging a great fight, this week in the senate investigation of the effects of prohibition. We think it is mostly time wasted. A mass of information that may or may not be reliable will be submitted to the committee by both sides. Reams of opinion will be poured forth, much of which is prejudiced, emotional, or otherwise unreliable. The most the hearings will do is to afford the opposing parties an outlet for their pent up zeal and grievances.

TREES CANNOT VOTE
If trees could vote we would have to speak for them. Plenty of attention would be paid to their welfare. Since they don't go to the polls we'll have a duty toward them.

COOLIDGE JUSTIFIED
President Coolidge has definitely decided he will not send a representative to the world court conference at Geneva next September; in fact, a note to this effect is about to be forwarded by Secretary Kellogg. The president is fully within his rights as well as the proprieties in declining the invitation.

TODAY'S POEM
By HAL COCHRAN
A place in truth, where age and youth have mingled day and night. Just standing there, at welcome's rare, an ever tempting sight.
A man of gray will pass his way. He's weary, hot and slack. Ambition's gone; he lingers long, and then it trickles back.
A lot of four will cry for more, so sister hold him high. He's held until he gets his bill. And then they pass on by.
A business man will stily scan the people who imbibe. He's tempted then; you know it when he joins the thirsty tribe.
It's yours or mine; we fall in line and sip in deep content. Thus age and youth, to tell the truth, are really pleasure bent.

HYPOTHYROIDISM
Shortage of iodine in the feed or water of sows sometimes accounts for hairless pigs. Michigan farmers failed in wool growing until they learned to provide an adequate iodine ration for the sheep.
Salmon and trout raised in fish hatcheries, fed kept in crowded tanks or pools, suffer greatly from goiter. The goiter is prevented by the regular addition of minute traces of iodine (in the form of an iodine usually) to the water the fish live in, or by feeding them regularly hashed sea fish. Lake Erie pike and bass are often found to have goiter.
Goiter is notably common among children and adolescents in the great lakes region, in the upper Missouri and Yellowstone valleys, and in eastern Oregon and Washington state. In some cities in these goitrous regions most of the blood shows present signs of goiter. It is due to iodine deficiency.
The food, water, air or medicine fails to provide the essential amount of iodine for normal growth and health. All the iodine in the world came originally from the sea, scientists assure us; it is all going back to the sea, apparently. People suffering from iodine deficiency disease had better hurry up and get their iodine before it is all gone from the soil, water, vegetable and animal foodstuffs. Even now it is poor picking in Spokane, Grand Rapids and Akron.

Q. Which horse was the leading horse in 1925? L. D.
A. American Flag, three year old son of Man of War, is by most sportsmen considered the king of the turf.
He won every race in which he was entered during the season.
Q. Where is Linnopolis? L. C.
A. This name is often given to Belfast, Ireland because it is the center of the Irish linen trade.
Q. Is Florida larger than New York? W. A. W.
A. It is larger than New York and Massachusetts together. Georgia is the only state east of the Mississippi that is larger than Florida.
Q. During the season may wild ducks be shot after sunset? P. S.
A. It is contrary to the provisions of the migratory bird treaty act. A fine of $500 was assessed for such an offense during the past season.
Q. Is an oil well big enough for a man to go down inside it? R. M.
A. An oil well that is being dug has any considerable depth usually has a 20-inch casing in the upper part and a small, slender man could get down
in one of that size.
Q. Is there a variety of wandering jew that blossoms? E. H. B.
A. The bureau of plant industry says that the flowering wandering jew is not a definite variety, but that it is an individual difference of the same plant.
Q. Were the state constitutions modeled after the federal constitution?
C. D.
A. The states in existence at the time of the drafting of the Constitution of the United States had constitutions of their own and it was upon these that the federal one was patterned. The states developed their documents from colonial charters which in turn were modeled upon the charters of mercantile companies of the fifteenth and sixteenth centuries.
Massachusetts is the only state which retains the constitution framed at that period, but it has been revised and amended. All the states, however, in their modern constitutions retain many of the principles and much of the framework of the older documents.
Q. How should a drinking glass and a coffee cup be held? K. C. L.
A. A drinking glass is held a little below the center between the thumb and first two fingers. The handle of a coffee cup is grasped by the thumb and first two fingers, the third and fourth being bent toward the palm.
Q. In reading modern Roumanian history find Carmen Sylva called "mama Danila." What does this mean? R. A. R.
A. The title means "Mother of the wounded." You will also find it applied to Queen Marie.
Q. What was the real name of Roosevelt's rough riders? B. H.
A. Roosevelt was lieutenant colonel with the First United States Volunteer Cavalry which was commonly known as the rough riders. This was a small regiment of about 450 men recruited in Texas and vicinity.
Q. What country is known as the "Land of the Midnight Sun"? W. E. T.
A. Norway.

TWO FLOORS OF GOOD THINGS TO WEAR

WANT SPEEDING
LIMITED TO 35
MILES AN HOUR

Other Traffic Efforts Favor Removal of All Speed Restrictions

BY FREDERIC J. HASKIN
Washington, D. C.—The speed limit for automobiles on the open highway should be fixed at 35 miles an hour, while in cities, towns and villages the limit should not be lower than 11 miles an hour, according to the committee on traffic control of the National Conference on Street and Highway Safety, which also says that there are three schools of thought on the subject of speed limits.
One holds that the average motorist is incapable of judging for himself what is a safe speed and that the only way of controlling him is to prescribe absolute speed limits for each section of the street or highway.
The second school advocates the designation of limits beyond which there is presumption of reckless driving on the part of the operator, whether or not higher maximum limits are prescribed.

NO SAFE LIMIT
The third believes that the law should be directed solely against reckless driving; that it is impossible to fix any limit, and that the attempt to do so, with the resultant constant violation of and contempt for the law, is one of the chief causes of motor accidents. The committee does not make the comparison, but experts in attendance at the conference do not hesitate to say that a law exacting traffic law is like the prohibition amendment and its enforcement statute in that one of its first effects is to incite many people to law violations.

THE COMMITTEE
The committee in its report said that the third school of thought is right in principle and recommended a basic control of speed through uniform state laws which lay the emphasis on reckless driving. At the same time it pointed out that speed may be a large factor in street and highway safety, both through the lessened control by the drivers of vehicles running at high speed, and the likelihood of more serious consequences in case of accident. In fixed speed limits, the committee admits, traffic authorities have a yardstick by which to measure, however rough, violations of the principle of safe driving. Therefore cities, villages, townships and other political subdivisions should be empowered to establish speed limits within their boundaries in harmony with the State law.

TOO LOW
"Under present conditions some small municipalities establish limits considerably below those found by experienced authorities to be safe, and sometimes in direct conflict with the state law, and then proceed to enforce these unreasonable restrictions to the point of persecution of passing motorists," says the report, referring to the speed traps that thousands of motor tourists have encountered to their sorrow and cost. "To prevent this the state law should prohibit any municipality or other local subdivision from establishing any limit lower than 15 miles per hour. The law should also require that the boundaries of all speed zones be clearly marked."
"Outside of cities and incorporated towns and villages your committee believes that the safe allowable speed depends so largely upon the traffic conditions, the character of the highway and other conditions, that there should merely be established a limit beyond which there is presumption of reckless driving. Your committee would place the limit at 35 miles per hour on the open highway."

MAY GO FASTER
"Under favorable conditions motorists go faster than this, but in case of accidents or court proceedings for any cause it should be incumbent upon the operator to prove affirmatively that he was not driving recklessly. On through-traffic highways protected by boulevard strips generally higher speeds may be permitted than on other highways."

COLLISIONS
Collisions occur frequently at street and highway intersections
and, in cities, at the outlets of alleys.
It is pointed out that some cities have established very low speed limits at such points. When the traffic is light and the view unobstructed these limits can often be exceeded with safety, and they are generally little regarded by motorists. At controlled intersections, also, traffic is frequently conducted at greater speeds.
Such cases illustrate the importance of stressing the prohibition of reckless driving irrespective of speed.

Professional Women Divided
as to How Big True Claim Little Tots Have

Should professional or business women who marry and have children give up their work and devote all their time to their children?
Irene Castle, now Irene Castle McLaughlin, declares without reserve that, while a woman's place need not necessarily be at home, a mother's place certainly is there. She adds: "I can only say that I have never known what happiness was before and my life is now complete. I would gladly give all my dancing days—the little successes and fame, I enjoyed and the comfortable salary I drew—for five minutes' visit with my wee one."
Not so, Noyaa McMein, now Noyaa McMein Haragwanath. "Why not divide your time between your baby and your work?" she argues and declares: "I am too much addicted to motherhood and to paid work to stand by and see either of them obliterated."
"If one must suffer at the other's expense, then let business go. But if you can divide your life fairly between them—and I will wait right here while you name me six good reasons why a woman can't—it seems to me high service to your child and yourself."

Famous U.S. Woman To Visit Here

Mrs. Edward McDowell of Peterborough, N. H., an honorary member of the national musical sorority of Sigma Alpha Iota, will be brought to Appleton by the national organization to give a lecture recital at the nineteenth biennial convention to be held here Oct. 10 to 13. Mrs. McDowell is the widow of the late Edward McDowell, famous American composer and won the $5,000 prize given by the Pictorial Review last year for being the outstanding American woman. Mrs. McDowell's recital will be given at 4:30 on the afternoon of Oct. 11. Admission to the recital will be by invitation. At the present time, Mrs. McDowell is conducting a musical colony at Peterborough, where the Sigma Alpha Iota sorority has built and maintains a cottage.

On Oct. 9, the national board will have a business meeting at the Conway hotel. A musical vesper service at 4:30 on Sunday afternoon, Oct. 10, at the Methodist church will mark the official opening of the convention. On Tuesday evening, Oct. 11, there will be a banquet at the Methodist church. Christine Penn, of Boston, Mass., president of the national alumnae association, will be toastmistress at the banquet. All business sessions will be held at the Methodist church. On Wednesday, Oct. 12, the final business session will be held after which the guests will be taken on an automobile tour of the city. A reception will be held after the tour.

MISS FENTON IS HEAD OF I. B. CLUB

Two societies of the Methodist church held meetings Tuesday. Election of officers took place at the meeting of the I. B. club following the supper at 6:15. Dorothy Fenton was elected president of the club; Doris Eberhardt, vice president and Harriet Colvin, secretary and treasurer. Apportioned offices, including members of the program and ways and means committees, will be appointed by the executive board and will be announced at the next meeting.

Final plans for the "County store" will be held April 28 at the Methodist church were made at the meeting of the Social union Tuesday afternoon in the social union rooms. Circle No. 7, of which Mrs. Harriet Nicholson is chairman, served refreshments after the business session. About 40 members attended the meeting.

WEDDINGS

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Braeger, 1913 N. North Division-st., have announced the marriage of their daughter, Paula Estella, to Edward Monroe Painter of Pasadena, Calif. The marriage took place March 31 at Pasadena, at the First Lutheran church. The Rev. W. H. Dorn performed the ceremony. Mr. and Mrs. Painter will leave Pasadena on May 1 for a motor trip to Grand Canyon and Rockville, Chicago. Appleton and Minneapolis and expect to return to Pasadena about August 1.

Dr. S. A. Donovan of Seymour and Miss Marjorie Chishman, a teacher at Oconto, were married April 3 at the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Boyden of Seymour. The Rev. W. J. Dougherty performed the ceremony. After a short trip to Niagara, Dr. and Mrs. Donovan will return to Seymour where they will make their home.

WOMAN'S CLUB PLANS PROGRAM ON HEALTH

A health program will be given at the general meeting of Appleton Woman's club Thursday afternoon at the woman's club. Dr. Bowman of the state board of health is to give a talk on health stressing the health situation in the city of Appleton. A review of the method used in grading Appleton in health in the latter cities contest will be given by Miss Mary Orison.

A lunch will be served at 12:30 and the meeting will start at 2 o'clock. Members of the club who are unable to be present at the luncheon are invited to attend the meeting in the afternoon.

FULLINWIDER CLASS TO PRESENT RECITAL

Seven students from the studio of Percy Fullinwider will appear in a violin recital at 8:20 Thursday evening in Peabody hall. They are: Lella Boettcher, Persis Schneck, Helen Melas, Walter Schaefer, Oscar Hoh, Roberta Lanouette and Wenzel Albrecht. The public is invited.

CONCORDIA PROFESSOR IS WALTHER SPEAKER

Professor Barth of Concordia college, Milwaukee, is to be the speaker at the monthly business meeting of the Olive Branch Walther League society at 7:30 Friday evening in the basement of Mt. Olive Lutheran church. Mr. Barth will talk on "The preacher in the making." This will be the second of a series of lecture courses to be given by the society. All young people of the church and other members of the congregation are invited.

ZILSKE ONLY ALDERMAN TO LOSE OFFICE

Sixth Ward Turns Down Incumbent and Elects Fred W. Wiese

Poling 475 votes, Fred W. Wiese defeated Robert C. Zilske, incumbent, for alderman from the Sixth ward in the spring election Tuesday. Zilske received 236 votes. He was the only alderman to fall of reelection. Wiese carried the first precinct by more than 200 votes, polling 258 to 127 for his opponent. Zilske carried the second precinct by two votes. He received 260 and Wiese 257. All other aldermen were returned to their offices by comfortable margins.

Marcus Steinbauer polled almost twice as many votes for alderman from the First ward as his opponent, James A. Wood. The former totaled 573 and the latter 353. Steinbauer carried both precincts.

Charles D. Thompson was returned to the aldermanic office from the Second ward, receiving 341 votes to 231 for William Konrad. Thompson polled 256 votes in the first precinct and 151 in the second, compared to the respective totals of 125 and 114 for Konrad.

George T. Richard was given almost 200 more votes than Frank Groh for alderman from the Third ward. Richard received his largest majority in the second precinct, polling 233 votes there to 112 for Groh. Their votes in the first precinct were 207 and 202 respectively.

Joseph Culahan defeated his opponent, Charles J. Selig by 93 votes, for reelection to the common council from the Fourth ward. Culahan's votes in the first and second precincts totaled respectively, 97 and 220, compared to 39 and 198 for Selig.

A majority of 166 votes re-elected Wenzel Hussman to the council from the Fifth ward. The victor polled 492 votes and Richard Artman 272. Artman trailed in both precincts, receiving 134 votes in the first and 138 in the second. Hussman's votes in the two precincts were 205 and 229.

Fred E. Bachman, who was unopposed in his candidacy for reelection as city treasurer, polled 2,915 votes.

Alfred C. Besser, whose candidacy for reelection as city attorney also was unopposed, received 2,632 votes.

Francis C. Eschweiler, lone candidate for justice of the Supreme court, was given 3,442 votes in both the city and county, while Theodore Berg polled 4,406 votes for reelection as municipal judge.

TEMPORARY WORK COMES UNDER WORKMEN'S LAW

Madison—(P)—Ordering a previous mandate vacated, the Wisconsin Supreme court Tuesday held that casual or temporary employment is a sufficient basis for enforcing the workmen's compensation law against an employer.

The court previously took an opposite position in the case of Albert Guse against the industrial commission and Arthur Zuchko. Its change in the construction of the law was made after rehearing the case.

The workmen's compensation law provides that every employer of three or more employees shall come under the act unless he chooses not to accept its provisions. The ruling Tuesday is, in effect, that the employment of three or more persons for temporary work makes the employer liable for compensation for injuries under the law.

NINE SIGN UP TO WED DURING MONTH OF MARCH

Cupid is getting back his batting average. The little fellow stepped out in spring training during the month of March and came through with nine home runs.

Things are looking up for this gay arrow shooter for his nine bulls' eyes put to shame anything he has pulled off in the way of activity during the month of March for the past three years.

Cupid's activities are reflected in the records of the office of John E. Hantschel, county clerk, where those in love go to sign up for life, or shorter, Nine couples secured licenses to wed at the office during March, 1926. That is two more than agreed to forsake single blessedness in 1925. The year before, 1924, was "skin picking" for Kid Cupid, when only four said "I do," during the merry month of March.

But that perhaps was due to the fact that the kid strained himself in 1925 when he witnessed fourteen weddings after seeing eleven the year before.

AWARD MEYER PRESS BOOKLET CONTRACT

Winning 134 in the competitive price making for the 500 county booklets of county board proceedings was awarded to the Meyer Press. It was announced Tuesday by County Clerk John E. Hantschel.

Other firms competing in the bidding were the Induser Printing company, Chris L. Roemer and Kaukauna Times printing company. The winning firm promises to do the work for $180 plus $175 for the type. Last year the job cost $475 and consequently this year shows a savings of $110, it was pointed out.

TAKE CIVILIANS IN RIFLE TEAM

Reserve Officers Invite Citizens to Get Practice With Army Guns

A course of instruction in rifle and pistol shooting which was started several weeks ago by the Fox River chapter of the Reserve Officers association is open to all civilians who wish to learn the proper use of firearms, according to an announcement made by Lieutenant Helm Hussner, instructor. The reserve officers have expressed desire that a large number of civilians will take advantage of opportunity to learn use of the rifle and that enough may enroll in the class so that a civilian rifle and pistol team can be organized.

The Reserve officers have already organized a rifle team and its members include a few civilians. There is no cost for arms and ammunition as they are supplied by the government. Persons who have completed the course of instruction in rifle and pistol work will be privileged to use the shooting gallery in Armory G. Meetings are held every Monday evening in the armory for basic instructions in the use of rifles and pistols. A special

The EASIEST FENCE to Put Up in the Hardest Places

Because pasture land, where you need the tightest fence, is generally the most uneven part of your farm it is a problem to fence it properly. Ordinary, square mesh fence will not follow the contour of the ground without straining and piecing the strands. Only APEX Fence with the "Swinging Joint" adjusts itself without effort to hills and gullies and fits the ground like a glove. No matter what kind of fence you have used to enclose your level fields you need enough APEX fence to save time fencing the uneven places. When you use APEX you don't waste time piecing and mending strained or broken top wires and tightening loose bottom wires. The flexibility of APEX Fence makes it the easiest to build and maintain.

Big FREE Catalog

Stop in and get a FREE copy today — full of interesting facts about how to save money on the farm to increase your profits and farm values. Illustrations show scientific ways to use fence as outlined by America's National Agricultural authorities. Shows how to measure your fence and put it up easiest. Local High School Will Compete With Three Other Schools

New London—The local high school will enter five speakers in the inter-scholastic forensic contest which will be held in the auditorium of the Clintonville high school Friday afternoon and evening.

The nominating committee of the club will report at the meeting next Thursday the names of those who will be voted upon in the annual election.

Russell Runenoff, with the oration, A Plea for Individual Rights, and Sylvester Stern, with the oration, The True Grandeur of Nations, will represent the local school in oratory, having been selected at the inter-class contest which was held a short time ago. The two girls who will speak in the declamation contest are Vivian Abraham, with the declamation, The Beau of Bath, and Dorothy Bentz with the selection, Who's Afraid?

Adeline Pearson will represent the school in the extemporaneous speaking contest. She will speak on any topic which is selected by the officials of the contest from the February, March or April issues of Current History, Literary Digest, Review of Reviews, Independent, Outlook or World's Work magazines.

The school will be grouped with three other high schools in the meet, Clintonville, Menasha, and Antigo. A large delegation from here is expected to travel to Clintonville to attend the contest.

STAGE And SCREEN

SCREEN VILLAINS MUST HAVE HUMOR

A successful screen villain must have a sense of humor. This is the contention of Roy D'Arcy, one of the big names of Hollywood, whose crown prince in "The Merry Widow" was an outstanding performance of last season, and who is seen against as a prince in "Monte Carlo," the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer comedy coming to the Elite theatre Thursday and Friday.

"Villains," says D'Arcy, "are always, both on the screen and off, just a tiny bit funny, and the screen villain who takes himself too seriously loses a great deal in his interpretation.

"It is much easier for a man who has played heavily to turn comedian than one who has done nothing but romantic roles. Take Lew Cody, for instance. There is one of the best he-camps on the screen who has turned out to be a perfect comedian. I believe that in every villain's role some comedy relief must be given. The crown prince and I played in "The Merry Widow" was a character horrible and unlovely but funny because he was made ridiculous by the actions of the other characters."

Lew Cody and Gertrude Olmsted have the leading romantic roles in "Monte Carlo" and the all-star comedy cast includes: Trixie Friganza, Noel Dane, Crease Gravina, Harry Myers, Zasu Pitts and Arthur Hoyt. Christy Cabanne, who directed "Ramon Novarro's" "The Midshipman" and "The Masked Bride," starring Mae Murray, has directed this sensational comedy by Carey Wilson. Alice D. G. Miller has adapted the story to the screen.

SPECTACULAR SCENES IN "LORD JIM"

The screen version of Joseph Conrad's famous novel, "Lord Jim," which Victor Fleming directed for Paramount, is said to be replete with spectacular scenes.

A crash between a picket boat and a tug boat, the sinking of a tramp steamer at sea with eight hundred passengers on board, the battle between hundreds of copper-colored savages and a handful of white men—all these episodes are thrillingly recorded by the camera.

The chief emphasis of the picture, however, is laid upon the striking story which shows the battle of a brave man against a thousand odds to prove he is not a coward.

Percy Marmont, who will be remembered for his superb performance in "The Street of Forgotten Men," plays the part of "Lord Jim." Shirley Mason, one of the most talented and beautiful actresses on the screen, plays the part of a half-caste daughter of the South Seas, Noah Beery, a man of great physical prowess as well as a veteran actor, is said to do the best work of his career as a brutal sea captain in the picture. Raymond Hatton completes the quartet of featured players.

Added film features such as News and Comedy, etc. Also an amateur vaudeville contest to add to the evening's enjoyment.

"THE FOOL" CLASSES AS PERFECT PICTURE FROM GREAT PLAY

The old adage makers have always insisted that it is impossible to gild the lily. William Fox, the veteran motion picture producer, with his screen adaptation of "The Fool," at the New Bijou today and Wednesday has proven them all wrong. He has taken one of the greatest American stage plays, written by Channing Pollock, and which ran more than a year on Broadway, and by means of the camera, lavish expenditure of time and money, a great cast and a reverent and faithful transcription from the original, made this screen version of "The Fool" much bigger and better than the play.

It is, in fact, the finest effort from the Fox company, that has ever come under our critical eye and we are not forgetting such of that company's famous successes as "Over the Hill," "If Winter Comes," and others.

"The Fool," as many local theatergoers know, is sheer melodrama and thrills—a story of a young and zealous minister with an ideal, an ideal to live like Christ in the twentieth century. How he sets about to do this, his triumphs and sacrifices and his many adventures, ending up with one of the most thrillingly dramatic "miracle scenes" ever staged, provides rich material for the author, the adapter, director and actors to work on.

Every member of the fine cast fanned his or her reputation as an actor beyond even his own hopes. Edmund Lowe, good looking young Fox star, is superb as the minister Daniel. There who share the honors with him are: Mary Thurman, Brenda Rind, Ray Bleemer, Paul Panzer and Anna Dale.

UTILITY DROPS PETITION TO ABANDON CAR SERVICE

NEENAH GETS LESS AID FOR ITS BRIDGES

Traction Company Points Out Inability to Operate at Profit

The petition of the Wisconsin Traction, Light, Heat and Power Co. to discontinue its interurban railway service between Appleton, Neenah and Menasha has been dismissed by the railroad commission with the assurance by Neenah that the traction company would not have to pay 40 per cent of the cost of three bridges which Neenah is contemplating building, a notice received Tuesday from the railroad commission by Alfred C. Bosser, city attorney, stated.

The power company will pay an amount equal only to the additional cost which the construction of the tracks on the bridges will necessitate, according to an agreement between Neenah and the company. The bridge which Menasha was contemplating building will not be constructed for a number of years, at city assured the traction company, and with this understanding and with its settlement with Neenah, the traction company assented to the traction company that the petition of the company be dismissed.

OPERATED AT LOSS
The traction company was operating in Neenah and Menasha under a franchise which required it to pay 40 per cent of the total cost of the replacement of all bridges over which the company operates its lines. An audit of the company's books by the railroad commission proved that the traction company was operating at a loss after providing for depreciation and taxes, which the company contended in presenting its application, and it did not feel as if it could stand the expense of financing 40 per cent of the cost of the bridges.

A hearing on the petition of the traction company was held here Nov. 12 at the city hall by the railroad commission, at which the following appearances were entered: Shaw, Muskat and Sullivan by James D. Shaw, and Rooney and Grogan by P. W. Grogan for the traction company; A. C. Bosser, city attorney for Appleton; S. L. Spengler, city attorney for Menasha; and George H. Kelly city attorney for Neenah.

DEPENDABLE SERVICE
Objections to the granting of the petition were made by Menasha, citizens living along the right-of-way between Menasha and Appleton, and by Appleton through the chamber of commerce and the city attorney. These objections were raised mainly on the grounds that the interurban railway service is during the winter months and especially during inclement weather the only dependable passenger transportation service between Appleton and Neenah-Menasha, and that to allow the proposed abandonment of this line would mean the depriving of the patrons of a necessary means of transportation.

At the hearing the petitioner submitted evidence and testimony purporting to show the operating results on its Appleton-Neenah interurban

COW TESTING CLUB MEETS TO TALK CATTLE SALES

Outagamie Testing association plans holding a series of meetings with members this month for the purpose of talking over cow testing, cattle sales, milk prices and things of interest to dairymen.

These meetings are being conducted by Clara Rickaby, official tester of the association. He is assisted by County Agent Amundson, in some instances. The next meeting will take place Wednesday afternoon at the Jamieson brothers farm in Greenville. A meeting took place Monday last at the farm of Dan Devine at Mackville.

line, the Appleton city railway lines and the combined railway lines and passenger statistics on the buses operating on the Appleton-Neenah line.

TAKE LESS MONEY
Following the hearing, and after an audit of the traction company's books had been made, it appeared that Neenah officials might be willing to accept as the company's portion of the cost of rebuilding the three bridges an amount equal to the additional cost of the bridges due to fact that the company's line of railway would be operated over the bridges.

With these facts in mind the railroad commission called a conference at Madison March 8, and the agreement between the traction company and Neenah was reached. The following attended the conference: William A. Jackson, attorney, and A. K. Ellis, vice president of the traction company; George E. Sande, mayor, Neenah; S. L. Spengler, city attorney, Menasha; M. W. Torkelson, secretary of the Wisconsin highway commission.

The amount which the traction company will pay as its share of the cost of constructing the three bridges in Neenah will be determined by the highway commission, according to the terms of the agreement.

SPENCER SUGGESTED IDEA OF WAR TANKS

The invention and use of tanks in the World War was made possible by the use of caterpillar tractors and treads and the idea of using the caterpillar tread for such a military purpose was first thought of in Appleton, Harold Spencer, world traveler and son of the late Judge A. M. Spencer of this city, told members of the Appleton Lions club at their regular luncheon Monday noon at Conway Hotel.

Mr. Spencer, who was formerly a member of the house of commons in the British parliament, said that he thought of using the caterpillar tread for military purposes after a visit in Appleton at which he had noticed some caterpillar tractors manufactured by a local concern at that time. He later mentioned his idea to Winston Churchill, British prime minister, who favored the suggestion and the building of tanks was started shortly afterwards.

Mr. Spencer told of numerous experiences he had in European nations at the time of the World War.

FARMERS HOLD MEETINGS TO FORM SPRAY RINGS

County Agent R. A. Amundson Tuesday announced that meetings were being conducted for the purpose of organizing "spraying rings" in the different localities of the county. A meeting will be conducted in the village hall at Bear Creek next Thursday afternoon, Mr. Amundson declared, and he stated that it will be similar to the meeting conducted at Freedom a week ago.

The purpose of these rings is to formulate plans for the spraying trees to keep them in better condition. Dance, Stephensville Auditorium, Sun., Apr. 11. Admission 50c. Ladies Free. Hoier's Orchestra.

John Smith Finds Trouble Searching For Pocahontas

He was only a drunk sitting in the Northwestern depot Monday night but he simply complicated the whole American history.

It falls upon our narrow and stooped shoulders to step in, right here and now, and untangle the skein of American history before this one awful error mixes things up to such an extent that future generations will not know whether Magnus Johnson discovered America or Sitting Bull was the father of the Eighteenth amendment.

And a poor drunk was the cause of it all. Yet, it was not his fault. It was his mother, or his aunt, or whoever it was that named him. Get ready for a shock dear reader. His name is John Smith.

You all know that there was another John Smith. No, not one of the cough drop Smiths, but the Smith for whom Pocahontas acted as a pinch hitter in the days of old.

So to untangle this mix-up right now we will refer to that John Smith, the Pocahontas one, as "A."

To the hero of this story we will refer to as "B." That ought to clear the whole history.

Monday night "B" was sitting in the Northwestern depot without a Pocahontas of any kind. In fact the only thing Indian he had about him was fire water.

When a man sits in a depot it is generally an indication that he is going somewhere. This case was no exception. "B" made one mistake, however, for he sat over on the women's side of the building. That not only was bad taste, it was indiscreet, and it attracted too much attention.

Now here is something to think about. "B" would have been all right, fine, sitting pretty and all that

Eight applications for loans totaling $30,000 will be considered at it, (oh, most unfortunate circumstances) Officer E. B. Carnes did not chance along that way. That spoiled it all. That made it a certainty that "B" was going someplace. He went. Need we say where?

The scene changed. Hours elapsed. "B" looked up in the face of Judge Berg. The judge said a few words. What "B" remembered most was, "Five dollars and costs."

HC1 The YELLOW STUB
by Ernest Lynn

BEGIN HERE TODAY

HENRY RAND, 55, a business man, is found murdered in a cheap hotel in GRAFTON. Police find a woman's handkerchief and a yellow ticket stub from a theater in Milwaukee.

JIMMY RAND, Henry's son, goes to Milwaukee. The ticket stub is traced to a THOMAS FOGARTY, who says he gave it to OLGA MAYNARD, a cabaret singer. Police search for her.

Jimmy meets and falls in love with MARY LOWELL and gets a job at her office. Later he encounters Olga Maynard and she faints when he tells her she is suspected of murder. Mary, out with SAMUEL CHURCH, a wealthy lawyer, sees Jimmy lifting Olga into a taxi. The next day she doesn't speak too loud. He is discharged later that day.

Police arrest Olga and confront her with the ticket stub and handkerchief. She admits they are hers but believes a man who took her to a cabaret two nights before the murder might have got hold of them.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER XIV

Olga Maynard stared unseeing at the handkerchief O'Day held in his hand. She was silent.

"Who was the man?" O'Day repeated.

"I don't know," she lifted her arms helplessly and let them drop.

"What do you mean, you don't know who it was?" O'Day began angrily.

"You—"

"Just what I said," she said resignedly. "I don't know who it was. I never saw him before that night."

"You expect me to believe that?"

The lieutenant had risen to his feet. He was leaning over her menacingly.

"Look here—either you're lying when you say you weren't in the Canfield hotel or you're lying when you say you don't know who this man was. Which is it?"

"I told you it would sound like a weak child. I know you'd think I was lying. If you'll listen I'll explain. You still won't believe me, I guess, but every word's true. I swear it is."

"Go ahead, Miss Maynard," encouraged Jimmy. "We're listening."

"You probably got the idea from the lieutenant, Mr. Rand," she said. "That I'm not a very nice woman. All right, maybe I'm not, according to your way of thinking. The man I went out with that night spoke to me in the lobby of the Paragon Theater as I was coming out. He picked me up, if you want to put it that way."

She looked appealingly at Jimmy.

have a hard time getting a jury to believe it."

"But if she is allowed to go free she might be able to find the man," Jimmy suggested. "If she's in jail, he might run around town here without anybody to identify him."

"That's true enough, Rand. But on the other hand, if we let her loose she might beat it out of town."

"No, I won't. I swear I won't, Lieutenant," she cried.

O'Day shrugged. "It's out of my hands. I'll hold you here until Moon-ey comes and gets you. Then we're through. It's his case—not ours."

"Then I'm going to Grafton tonight and make arrangements to have her freed," said Jimmy.

"You'll have to talk the district attorney out of trying to get an indictment."

"All right, I'll try that. It seems to me that I have as strong an interest in this case as the state has. I'm satisfied she's telling the truth. We need her to help us find the real murderer. I've maintained from the first, Lieutenant, that no woman was involved in this case. I said it when they first showed me the handkerchief and I said it again when Fogarty told us he had given his theater ticket to a woman."

"I'm going to Grafton to get hold of a lawyer."

"There's plenty of them here, Rand," observed O'Day dryly.

"I have one in mind. He's the best friend I've got."

He turned to Olga. "When I come back, Miss Maynard, they're going to let you go, and you and I are going to find that man. He doesn't know we're looking for him, so he won't be hiding. You're going to look for him every evening—do you hear?"

He thought he had never seen anything so pitiful in his life as when she turned a tearful face to him and said, "I'll try, Mr. Rand. I'll try awful hard."

He stopped in a telegraph office and sent a wire to Detective Mooney and another to Barry Colvin. At the railroad station he was able to get a lower berth on the train leaving for Grafton at ten o'clock.

It was a later train than he had planned to take, but there was no choice; there was no berth left on the other. He decided to eat dinner at a downtown restaurant and then go home and throw a few things in his traveling bag.

On the way to his room he walked slowly, trying to formulate some plan of action. He must get hold of Barry and have Barry argue with the district attorney against indicting Olga Maynard for murder. Barry was a friend of the district attorney; once they had both worked for the same law firm.

In front of his rooming house he almost collided in the darkness with a man coming through the gate.

"I'm sorry," he murmured as the other stepped quickly to one side to avoid a collision.

The man lowered his head and walked swiftly away. "He might have had the decency to accept my apology," Jimmy muttered. "Still, I guess I'd better watch where I'm going. I almost knocked him down. Wonder if he lives here?"

Mrs. King, the landlady, was in the hall when he entered the house.

"Is that you, Mr. Rand?" she said in surprise. "I thought I heard you moving around in your room a few minutes ago."

"I was in earlier in the evening. Mrs. King, but I went out again. I've been gone about three hours."

"I could have sworn I heard you just a few minutes ago, Mr. Rand. I didn't hear you go out, and I thought you were still here."

"By the way, I'm going out of town tonight. Going to Grafton. I expect to be back day after tomorrow. No phone calls for me, were there?"

"No."

In his way upstairs he was thinking of Mary Lowell. "I don't know why I think she'd call me up," he said to himself. "I guess I'm a plain darn fool to think of it even."

In his room he threw some clothing and toilet articles into his bag, lit a cigaret and sat down for a smoke before leaving for the railroad station. It was then that he saw an envelope on the telephone stand. He picked it up. It was sealed, but unaddressed. Puzzled, he tore it open and read it, and then sank back in his chair in amazement.

Written in pencil, in a scrawly, amateurish hand, were the words: "If you want to keep out of trouble, leave town and leave quick."

"Now who in Sam Hill could have written that?" he said aloud. "If someone's trying to scare me off, they've run up the wrong tree. Still, I don't know of anyone."

His reflections were cut short by the voice of Mrs. King. "Telephone, Mr. Rand."

His heart gave a leap. "If it's only Mary—but no, she wouldn't—" He lifted the receiver and then almost dropped it in surprise.

"A voice said: 'Did you get that note?'"

"Did I what?"

"You heard what I said. There's a note in your room. Read it."

Jimmy went hot with rage. "I read your infernal note, and you can—"

"Never mind what I can do. All you have to do is to do what it says," The receiver clicked.

Press a Plunger—"One Shot" Automatically Oils the Chassis!

How Can Anybody Now buy a Car that must be Oiled by Hand?

THERE is a marked trend in the automobile industry toward centralized chassis lubrication—quicken by a disposition among car-buyers to look upon a car as being old-fashioned if it has to be oiled by hand.

Following the example of Chandler and Cleveland Six, both of which possess the famous "One Shot" System, many companies are now hurrying to bring out newer models equipped with similar methods of centralized chassis lubrication.

With both Chandler and Cleveland, all you have to do is to press a plunger with your heel—and quicker than you can say the word, "One Shot" automatically lubricates the entire chassis! It spells the end of the work, inconvenience, uncertainty and worry usually connected with the lubrication of an automobile.

It is inconceivable that anybody could thinkingly choose a car without this advanced and easy method of keeping itself in condition—not to mention running the risk of owning, very soon, a car made obsolete by such an improvement in newer models.

Chandler and Cleveland, standing side by side in a great combination of resources, are able to offer a little more of everything for the money. Seeing is believing.

Compare these Prices:

Chandler—Twentieth Century Sedan, $1590; Metropolitan Sedan De Luxe, $1895; Brougham, $1695; Seven-Passenger Sedan, $1995; Comrade Roadster, $1695; f. o. b. Cleveland.

PROPOSE CODE FOR A UNIFORM GOLF SCORECARD

Movement to Make Old Scotch Game Modern and Simple by Tabloid Rules

Chicago (AP)—Codification of the rules of golf has been discussed for years, but thus far no one has been able to convince the Royal and Ancient Golf club of St. Andrews that the law of the game might be modernized. A tabloid code that would be possible if the same rule were made effective for both match and medal competition has been suggested as a sample of what could be done to simplify the rules.

Golf has grown over a long period of years and rules to meet contingencies added from time to time. The tenets were formulated almost entirely in Scotland, and some of them are thought to be obsolete even there. The main features of the suggested basic law, as tabulated by penalties, could be printed on the back of an ordinary score card. It follows:

- ONE STROKE PENALTY FOR:
1. Moving ball anywhere while in play, accidentally or otherwise.
 2. Hitting competitor's ball with own on green.
 3. Lifting ball from water hazard or casual water in other hazard.
 4. Disturbing grass, brush, etc. unnecessarily in search for ball.
 5. Hitting self with own ball.
 6. Stopping own ball with person, caddy or club.
 7. Striking ball twice during stroke.
 8. Lifting ball for identification except in presence of competitor.
 9. Lifting ball on green while competitor's ball in motion.

ONE STROKE AND DISTANCE FOR:

1. Lost ball, except in water hazard.
2. Out of bounds.

TWO STROKES PENALTY FOR:

1. Playing ball from elsewhere than where it lies.
2. Pushing, scraping or spooning ball.
3. Marking line of play.
4. For removing irregularities of surface through green.
5. For removing loose impediments more than club length from ball through green.
6. Taking practice stroke within club length of ball, except on tee.
7. Walking away from ball in play after ball has been addressed.
8. Moving, bending, breaking any? thing fixed or growing, except in swing.
9. Grounding club heavily, or drawing across line of play.
10. Improving in anyway lie in any sort of hazard.
11. Pressing down anything in any manner on green.
12. Touching line of putt with club, foot or hand, except to remove loose impediments.
13. Playing on green while competitor's ball in motion.
14. Lifting flag or person at hole from within 20 yards.
15. Lifting ball from green before holed out.
16. Failure face hole and drop ball over shoulder when dropping.
17. Lifting moving ball.
18. Failure play ball where it stopped or deflected by outside agency.
19. Failure drop ball at point where it landed in anything moving.
20. Failure drop ball on spot whence moved by outside agency, except wind.
21. Failure replace competitor's ball accidentally moved in search.
22. Removing more sand than necessary to disclose top of ball.

DISQUALIFICATION FOR:

1. Asking or receiving advice from anyone except caddy.
2. Cleaning ball while in play.
3. Playing two consecutive strokes with wrong ball except in hazard.
4. Failure return to original spot and replay ball out of bounds.
5. Playing to or on any green on opening day of competition in practice.
6. Failure to play stroke No. 2 from tee limits if first shot from outside markets.
7. Holing out with other than own ball.
8. Failure to replace ball moved by competitor, his caddy, clubs or ball.
9. For dropping nearer hole when ball lifted.
10. Refusing lift, or play at request of player farther from hole when both balls on green.
11. Failure to take penalty 2 strokes when lifting from unplayable lie.

KIWANIS TO ENTERTAIN HAREFOOT AT DINNER

Final plans for entertaining members of the Harefoot club of the University of Wisconsin at dinner Wednesday noon were discussed at the monthly meeting of the Kiwanis club directors Monday evening at the Conway hotel. The dinner is to be given at the Conway hotel by Rotary and Kiwanis clubs. Reports for March were read and other routine business was taken up.

FOUR WHEEL DRIVE TRUCKS CLEAR ROADS

Roads through Appleton between Clintonville and Oshkosh were cleared of snow last week by a party of five men who drove two Clintonville Four Wheel drive trucks, one of which was equipped with a V type snow plow, through the drifts as high as four and five feet. The men reported there was scarcely any snow on the road between Appleton and Oshkosh, but that the worst drifts were encountered between this city and New London. The men drove to Oshkosh to demonstrate Four Wheel Drive trucks to the Winnebagohighway committee. The trip of 60 miles was made in six hours, the party leaving Clintonville at 10:30 Friday morning and arriving at Oshkosh at 4:30 o'clock in the afternoon. One of the trucks was a bus chassis equipped with a V-shaped plow, while the other was taken along merely for demonstration purposes. Prior to this trip the truck was used to open the roads from Clintonville to Wau-paca, Shawano and New London.

UNIQUE TRUCK CREATES MUCH INTEREST HERE

A car having a body which is an exact reproduction of a package of the well known candy mint, attracted unusual attention on streets here Tuesday. The car is a truck with an extension frame and on it has been mounted the body which in shape, color and lettering exactly resembles a package of the mints. The body is 15 feet long and 50 inches high.

Arthur Weidner, who is traveling through Appleton with this unique automobile, said there are 96 similar cars in the United States and Canada and 2 in England.

Gasoline and Flour

Rising prices are a matter of vital concern to every man, woman and child in the Middle West.

Statistics show that while gasoline has increased in price during the last twelve years it has not advanced nearly as much as other staple commodities.

Take flour for instance. The United States Department of Labor states in the Monthly Labor Review that the average retail price of flour in Chicago on Nov. 15, 1913, was $0.29 per pound—$7.25 for 25 pounds.

On the same day the average Chicago tank wagon price of Standard Oil Company (Indiana) gasoline was $1.45 per gallon. At that price, a twenty-five pound bag of flour would have purchased 5 gallons of gasoline.

On Nov. 15, 1925, the average retail price of flour in Chicago was $0.94 per pound—$1.35 for 25 pounds.

The price of Standard Oil Company (Indiana) gasoline on the same day was $1.16 per gallon. At that price, a 25 pound bag of flour would have purchased 8.43 gallons of gasoline.

From these figures we find that 25 pounds of flour in 1925 would have purchased 68% more gasoline than in 1913.

In twelve years time, flour advanced in price 86.2% while gasoline advanced only 10.3%.

These statistics are the more startling when the enormous increase in the cost of every factor entering into the making of gasoline is considered.

Why has Standard Oil Company (Indiana) gasoline advanced in price so much less than such staple commodities as flour? How can the continued low price of gasoline be explained?

The answer lies in the unwavering determination of a highly specialized organization of 28,059 men and women to keep costs down that the price of gasoline might be low.

This determination finds expression in the intensive work done in the research laboratories of this Company, and in the close cooperation of every department of the business.

Inspired by this determination to serve, the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) has developed advanced refining processes which double the yield of gasoline from every barrel of crude. In this way the Company has met increasing costs with increased efficiency.

The remarkable achievement of the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) in maintaining low gasoline prices in the face of increasing material costs is due to the strenuous, persistent and unending work of its whole organization.

It finally has been decided, the inevitable has been decided. A pretty follow shot by Lanky Schwartz, star center of the Citizens Bank cage squad, who has been out of the lineup for a few weeks, the only points scored in four extra periods of play, enabled the strengthened Bankers to take the first victory of the year from the class Galpin Hardware Co. squad, leader of the Y. M. C. A. Industrial loop, since the loop season opened in December. Schwartz's finger broke a tie, which had held for more than 20 solid minutes and gave the Bankers an 18-16 win in the biggest upset of the year in the league.

The Galpins had won ten straight before the upset and had a commanding lead over the top rung, Thursday evening, when they played the second-place Fox River Co. crew and another loss at that time put the Bankers in a game behind the leaders with three more games to be played and will give the second-place team a fine chance to cop. The Bankers' feat is the best performance turned in this year in the loop.

In the other game of the league the Riverside Paper crew had little trouble whipping the collar-dodging Kimberly club of Kimberly and thus squeezed in right behind the fourth and fifth place teams.

SCHWARTZ, VOECKS STAR

Schwartz and Carl Voecks were the outstanding stars of the "new" Bankers, the big center following shots in great style and poking four of them through the net for eight of his teams points, and the latter playing a perfect guarding game as well as marking up a pair of free tries. Walter Voecks of the winners suffered a bad cut under his eye which required three stitches to close as the result of a collision. The score at the half was 9-5 for the winners but the Galpins drew up in the final period and tied the score a few minutes before the final whistle. The winning basket was scored by Lutz, who scored in the only points scored in 20 minutes of extra play.

Courtney, Lawrence, college ace, starred for the losers and even he was held to three markers by the close guarding of the winners. Lutz failed to score from the field.

In the other game of the evening Hilton had a field day, running up his team's 22 points. Hugh and Williams starred for the losers, who scored nine points on free throws.

HARRIS PREDICTS 18 WINS FOR BOX STAR

Tampa, Fla.—How many games are you going to win this year? was the question put to Walter Johnson the other day. Before he had a chance to reply, Manager Harris said, "Why the youngster will win 18."

"Whatever the manager says goes," replied Walter. "I must shoot at 18 or more."

That's asking a lot of ball games from a fellow who has been pitching for years, but Johnson is the guy who will deliver, if any one can.

HE'S UP AGAIN

TO A GUILTY

One of the most promising of the newcomers on the Chicago White Sox payroll this spring is Tom Gully, outfielder. He's fast and a good hitter. In 1925 he was a clutching sensation with Little Rock in the Southern association. Gully had a tryout with Cleveland a few seasons ago.

Joe Hauser is the big question mark of baseball. He is the player whom the experts dwell on in discussing the chances of the Athletics to win a pennant.

The ability of Hauser to play regularly seems to be the point on which the experts hinge the rise or fall of Connie Mack's club.

This Mack is certain Joe Hauser will not be used regularly at first base such a thing might be possible, but Connie Mack, who looks farther ahead than 1926 and who has much thought for Hauser's career, doesn't intend it to be that way.

"Instead of Poole helping out Hauser at first, it will probably be Hauser helping Poole," says the team manager Mack tells the press.

In practice Hauser has put the knee to every possible test except sliding. At times he notices soreness in certain spots but that is to be expected. Hauser would like to go every day but in all probability Poole will start at first base with Hauser easing into the lineup against certain kinds of pitching or when Poole happens to slump.

Physicians are agreed that there is no better way to strengthen the injured knee than by putting it to all the tests a first baseman must undergo in handling various types of thrown and batted balls.

However, to overdo the work this year might permanently run the chances for a complete recovery. The opinion seems to be that Hauser should be brought back by a slow process of conditioning.

For that reason, hitting in pinches and helping Poole at first base will probably be the extent of Joe's activities this year. It is possible he might be saved for the home stretch should the A's be in the running.

SPEAK HIGHLY OF YOUNG GEHRINGER

Toronto ball players, training also at Augusta, say within a year Gehring will be playing second base for the Tigers. He's a great fielder and a pretty good hitter.

Hartford, Conn.—Paul Berlenbach, a light heavyweight champion, beat Ray Neuman, Jersey City, 10 rounds. Bobby Garcia, Baltimore, defeated Johnny Drew, Worcester.

Madison, Wis.—The University of Wisconsin quartet of distance runners, shattered the mark of the Cedar Rapids four, which held ten seconds for the Third Annual Madison Inter-school relay race, the first of May.

The meet is the only one of its kind in the west where high school athletes compete in a relay meet entirely devoted to them.

The meet the first year drew 250 entries from 28 schools and was one of the finest relay affairs in the country. The feature of the first meet was the sterling performance of the Cedar Rapids runners. With a program of six relay events, the locals took first place in five and established a new record for the quarter mile relay. Their sole loss came in the sprint relay which was taken by Oak Park.

Last spring's meet was equally successful and was marked by several record breaking performances. With a record breaking performance, Leonard Hamilton, a student at a high school, Milwaukee, with a chairman for the third relay meet.

FISTIC EXPERT PICKS WILLS TO WHIP CHAMPION

Van Court Says Jack's "Mental Attitude" Is All Wrong; Ranks Him Seventh

BY DAN THOMAS
NBA Service Writer
Los Angeles — Jack Dempsey's mental attitude during a fight unfits him for long distance or finish battles. This nerves the way if he does not succeed in finishing his man quickly. This condition saps his vitality and endurance much more than any heading he might receive.

That is DeWitt VanCourt's opinion of the "champion of champions" and is the reason he ranks him seventh among the heavyweights of history. The Axel fight critic has been intimately connected with the fight game for over half a century. He has seen champions rise and fall over the days of John L. Sullivan. VanCourt discovered and later developed Jim Jeffries, whom he considers the greatest heavyweight of all time. The others in the order of his rating are John L. Sullivan, Jim Corbett, Peter Jackson, Jack Johnson, Bob Fitzsimmons and Dempsey.

Dempsey is undoubtedly the greatest heavy weight of the present time but even from being classed with the first five, declares the gray-haired trainer of many great fighting men. "While fast, game and a good hitter, Jack is very poor in defensive work and has proved several times that he lacks the stamina required for finish fights."

"Dempsey does not show the real sportsmanship nor the willingness to meet legitimate challenges shown by previous champions. Old John L. Sullivan used to say, 'Sure, I'll fight you in five minutes. Come on and take off your coat.' But Dempsey arranges his fights a year ahead of time."

"The champion has been hoisted as the greatest fighter of all time. He dropped Willard seven times in the first round of their fight and then failed to finish him. Willard went into more rounds. Does it seem possible Sullivan, Jeffries, Corbett, Jackson, Johnson or Fitzsimmons would fail to finish their man after seven knockdowns?"

VanCourt is skeptical about a Dempsey-Willis match being arranged this summer or any other time for that matter. But if they ever do get together, he says, as he has known Dempsey for years, "He will place his money on the quiet negro."

"Dempsey has broken the rules by hitting while holding in several fights. As this is Willis' favorite style of milking, I look for him to beat the champ," is his reason.

EVEN HANDICAP FAILS TO AID GIRL PINNERS

Even a 600 pin handicap was not enough to give the Rose Specialists, Little Chute girls' five, a win over the Plankie Five in a match rolled on the Chute alleys. The male keggers took two of the three games and capped the match by 51 pins.

The winners, by high scores of the fray with a game of 180 and a series of 503 Marie Rosebush led the ladies with a 128 game and a 355 series. The men won the opening till by 51 pins but the girls came back for a 37 pin win to cut the margin somewhat at the end of the second game. However, the men nabbed the final battle by 51 pins.

Dave's Dots And Dashes

It is understood that the Marinette board of education is looking around for a successor to Tom Johnson as athletic director of the purple and white institution. Efforts were made to induce Johnson to stay another year, but it is rumored that he has accepted a coaching job elsewhere.

President PreFontaine of the Fox River Valley baseball league has awarded Mack contracts to the managers in his circuit and the season for signing players is at hand. It is expected that within the next few days several of the teams will be able to announce their battle fronts.

Fond du Lac High will have a baseball team on the diamond again this spring. The Cardinal-town schoolers always turn out a first class nine and interest at the institution seems to turn more to the national pastime than to track. Coach Pruthi will again direct baseball activities at the school.

Several of the Valley conference schools are having trouble trying to complete their football schedules. The Little Eight dates are all set but early season games are still missing. Many of the smaller schools are fighting for forepart of the grid schedule.

At least four of the conference schools will hold spring football practice. Since the Little Eight barred preliminary workouts in the fall until school opened, the gridiron mentors deem it best to get their candidates out during the spring and iron out some of the rough spots.

STATE ORDERS SUBWAY UNDER DOUBLE TRACK

Railroad Commission Says
Plans Must Be Prepared
by June 1

Plans for the construction of a subway on E. Wisconsin-ave. where the highway crosses the tracks of the Chicago and North Western railroad and the Wisconsin Traction, Light, Heat and Power Co., must be submitted to the railroad commission of Wisconsin by June 1, according to the order of the commission, Tuesday, by Alfred C. Rosser, city attorney. The structure must be completed and ready for use by June 1, 1927.

The railroad commission ordered the subway to be built at its meeting Monday. Hearing on the petition by the city that the grade of the tracks be separated from the grade of E. Wisconsin-ave. was held here Nov. 12 by the railroad commission. The city presented its petition on Aug. 24.

PROMOTE SAFETY

Public safety requires an alteration in the existing grade crossing with the two tracks and safety will be promoted by a separation of grades by means of a subway under the tracks, the railroad commission held in submitting its order. The order reads:

"That the grade of Wisconsin-ave. on the north line of the city of Appleton be depressed so as to pass under the tracks of the Chicago and North Western Railway company and the Wisconsin Traction, Light, Heat and Power company through a subway, the axis of which shall coincide with the center line of the street.

"The subway shall provide two openings, each with a clear width of 24 feet measured at right angles to the highway to accommodate a 20 foot roadway and a four-foot sidewalk. The vertical clearance over the roadways shall be 14 feet.

"A suitable connection shall be provided for the road or street connecting with Wisconsin-ave. in the northwest angle of the crossing.

SUBMIT PLANS

"The Chicago and North Western Railway company and the Wisconsin Traction, Light, Heat and Power company shall each prepare and submit preliminary plans and estimates of costs for a structure to carry its track or tracks over the openings as described above. This work shall include such excavation as may be necessary to construct the abutments and center piers. The abutments or wall extensions shall join on the common right-of-way line of the two railroads. The opposite ends of the abutments shall permit of the retaining walls to be constructed by the city of Appleton or (and) the Wisconsin Highway commission being bonded thereto.

"The city of Appleton or (and) the Wisconsin Highway commission shall prepare preliminary plans and estimates of costs for all of the work not mentioned in the preceding section. The plans and estimates called for in the above two sections shall be submitted to this commission not later than June 1, 1926.

FINISH BY 1927

"The actual separation of grades herein ordered shall be completed and the subway ready for use on or before June 1, 1927.

"After receipt of the preliminary plans and estimates a supplemental order will be issued apportioning the costs of this work among the interested parties, viz: the city of Appleton, the Wisconsin highway commission, the Chicago and Northwestern Railway company, the Wisconsin Traction, Light, Heat and Power company and the town of Grand Chute.

Upon completion of the work herein ordered each party mentioned just above shall submit to this commission detailed statements of all costs incurred by it in connection therewith.

"Jurisdiction is hereby retained in this matter until the work is completed and the apportionment of costs effected."

TAKES HIGHWAY 15

The highway commission became a party to the project when it rerouted highway 15 over E. Wisconsin-ave. The street will be paved in 1927, according to Mayor John Goodland, Jr.

When the hearing on the city's petition was held here last fall, the following were present: A. C. Rosser, city attorney for Appleton; D. E. Riordan, attorney for the Chicago and North Western Railroad company; J. W. Grogan, attorney for the Wisconsin Traction, Light, Heat and Power company; Henry Gneiff, chairman for the town of Grand Chute; Homer H. Benton, attorney for Mrs. Orlando Sherburne, one of the abutting property owners.

At the hearing the city stated that since 1920, when a hearing was held here on a petition of a similar nature, it had constructed a high level bridge over the Fox river on S. Cherry-st. and it now desires to have state trunk highway 15 enter the city from the south, over this new bridge and proceed straight north on Cherry and N. Richmond-sts. to W. Wisconsin-ave; thence east on Wisconsin-ave to leave the city on E. Wisconsin-ave.

This, the city contended, would divert the heavy through traffic on highway 15 from the main business section and streets of the city and also from certain parts of the street car tracks. Should highway 15 be so rerouted, which action has been taken since by the highway commission, it would pass over the crossing in question, which the city held would be dangerous.

VISION SHUT OFF

The single tracks of the railroads cross the street at an angle of about 30 degrees with the tracks about 35 feet apart. The tracks are on fills south of the crossing and run into shallow cuts north of the crossing. The visions against approaching trains and cars are badly obstructed as the crossing is approached from the east, the city pointed out. The visions are also obstructed as the crossing is approached from the west but not to so great a degree.

The railroads contended that conditions surrounding the crossing had not materially changed since the previous hearing except that the Chicago and Northwestern Railway company has substituted a wig-wag signal in place of the automatic bell, and the traction company now maintains a safety stop for its southbound cars, all in accordance with the commission's orders dated Dec. 17, 1921.

The crossing was no more hazardous than it was in 1920, the railroads held at the hearing. They further contended that the rerouting of state trunk highway 15 had not yet been done or even authorized and should not be considered in this case.

The decision of the commission was not announced until Monday.
